CRISP POINT LIGHTHOUSE HISTORY

Crisp Point Lighthouse was built in 1903–1904 and was first lit on May 5, 1904. The need for a light at this location was expressed in an 1896 request for funding:

"This is a dangerous point for vessels bound down the lake in thick weather. These vessels all try to make Whitefish Point, but a slight variation in their course from the nearest point of departure will run them ashore near Crisp Point. Several wrecks have occurred here."

In 1906, the original attached brick service room was built, and additional buildings were constructed for the light station and an adjacent life-saving station. All buildings except for the tower and service room were demolished by the U.S. Coast Guard in 1965.

In 1991, Don and Nellie Ross established the Crisp Point Light Historical Society to preserve and maintain the lighthouse.

The Crisp Point Light Historical Society continues their work to keep the lighthouse open to the public and the lighthouse has been awarded two Michigan Lighthouse Assistance Program (MLAP) grants to assist with rehabilitation projects.
